Course Description

Our Cambridge Scholars program, The Era of the World Wars: Untold Stories, focuses on individuals' "untold stories," including young sailors on Ernest Shackleton's expedition to Antarctica in 1914, widows of the First World War, struggling families in the 1920s, the followers of Britain's extreme political parties in the 1930s, and those who served in the Women's Auxiliary Air Force in the 1940s.

We will take students on a journey from the eve of World War I, through the interwar period, up to the end of World War II by using historical and public history institutions in Cambridge and the Cambridgeshire region to introduce the range of people's contributions to a remarkable era.

Program Costs

The total program cost is $4,299. It includes three OSU credit hours tuition & fees, single room and board, breakfast and lunch daily, a formal dinner, guest lecturers, course-related excursions, and travel insurance.

The program fee does not include international airfare or other travel expenses to Cambridge, passports, miscellaneous personal expenses, additional meals, and any costs associated with travel after the course.

Scholarships & Billing

All students who participate in the program will receive substantial scholarship support of $2,000, bringing the cost down to $2,299. Scholarship support is made possible by the Lew Wentz Foundation and the Henry Bellmon Office of Scholar Development and Undergraduate Research. Further, the OSU Office of Study Abroad and the College of Arts and Sciences Outreach may have additional scholarships available. This course is not eligible for OSU tuition waivers.

All tuition and applicable program fees, along with the scholarship support you receive, will appear on your Bursar account. Deposits and installments will be charged during the Spring and Summer semesters, as indicated on the payment schedule. This course is considered a fall semester course. OSU Tuition & Fees will be billed as part of the Fall term.

Note: June 1, 2026 is the deadline to drop this course with no penalty except for your initial deposit. After this date, you will be responsible for all course costs, previously charged and scheduled to be charged, regardless of participation.

This is a statement of interest and application form, not an official OSU registration form. Completion and submission of this form will allow you only to be considered for acceptance to the program. If accepted, you will receive instructions with additional steps to register.
